Kinship and Grandfamilies Need Improved Supports and Recognition

From the literature, we know that…

- There are 2.7 million American children being raised within the loving homes of kin and grandparent caregivers;
- Kin and grandparent caregivers’ lives are enhanced by raising grandchildren, godchildren, nieces, nephews, siblings, and dear family friends.
- Children may come into the full-time care of relatives unexpectedly with little time to plan, which has an impact on their finances;
- Providing full-time care to children may decrease the ability of kin and grandparent caregivers to address their own physical and mental health needs and personal well-being; and
- Kin and grandparent caregivers benefit from better coordination and dissemination of information and resources available to support them in their caregiving responsibilities.
Family is the single most important influence in a child’s life

• The children in kinship families and grandfamilies have usually experienced trauma, abuse, and/or neglect prior to coming into the relative’s care.
• The love and care that kin and grandparent caregivers provide mitigates the stress of these childhood experiences. It helps children learn to cope with stress, develop a healthy stress response, and build resiliency.
• The unconditional love of a “parental figure” in the face of negative childhood experiences has been shown to have a protective effect on these children, building resiliency and helping them heal from the trauma that they may have experienced (Carroll, et al., 2013).
The SGRG Act (P.L.115-196)

• The Supporting Grandparents Raising Grandchildren (SGRG) Act was signed into law in July 2018;
• Established a council of federal and non-federal members to identify, coordinate and disseminate information and best practices to better support kinship families and grandfamilies;
• Develop and deliver to Congress a report that:
  – Shares best practices, resources, and other useful information for grandparents and other older relatives raising children;
  – Identifies gaps in services and supports;
  – Identifies the need for additional federal legislation;
  – Includes a focus on the needs of tribal members and those individuals impacted by the opioid crisis
The Council’s Guiding Principles

1. We recognize and define Kinship Families and Grandfamilies as families in which children reside with, and are being raised by, grandparents or other extended family members, or adults with whom they have a close family-like relationship.

2. Activities will promote greater adoption of person- and family-centered supports that place Kinship Families and Grandfamilies at the center of every support system, while also acknowledging the challenge of possible conflicting goals.

3. Efforts will aim to empower Kinship Families and Grandfamilies to advocate for themselves to meet the needs of the child and family members. With improved access to resources, they may engage and contribute meaningfully in their communities.

4. Recommendations should recognize and support Kinship Families and Grandfamilies in a fair and impartial manner considering the physical, cultural, emotional, and financial impacts.

5. The National Family Caregiving Strategy will include and amplify the voices of Kinship Families and Grandfamilies.

Recommendations for Systemic Change
- 22 Recommendations – all of which will inform and support the National Family Caregiving Strategy
5 Priority Areas

1. Awareness of/outreach to kin and grandparent caregivers;
2. Grandfamily and kinship caregiver engagement;
3. Services and supports for kinship families and grandfamilies;
4. Financial and workplace security for kin and grandparent caregivers; and
5. Research, data, and evidence-supported practices.
22 Recommendations

• Increase public awareness, improve outreach, and increase access
• Ensure recognition of kin and grandparents as part of the child’s “team”
• Improve the range of services and supports available for kinship and grandfamilies
• Promote and adopt policies that safeguard the financial, legal and workplace considerations of kin and grandparent caregivers
• Improve data collection, research and the development and dissemination of evidence-based/informed practices
TOWARD A NATIONAL FAMILY CAREGIVING STRATEGY

• The recommendations of the Advisory Council to Support Grandparents Raising Grandchildren will join those of the Family Caregiving Advisory Council to form the foundation of the National Family Caregiving Strategy.

• The Strategy will:
  – Be a living document that is updated regularly;
  – Outline critical actions that can be taken by public and private sectors to better support kinship and family caregivers in ways that reflect their diverse needs;
  – Serve as a roadmap for federal, state, and community action to better support kinship and family caregivers; and
  – Be released in 2022.
DISCUSSION
Presentation: Overview of the New National Technical Assistance Center on Grandfamilies and Kinship Families

Generations United
National Technical Assistance Center (NTAC) on Grandfamilies and Kinship Families

• $10 million appropriated for five years - as part of the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 to create the first ever National Technical Assistance Center (NTAC) on Grandfamilies and Kinship Families

• The Administrative for Community Living (ACL) oversees the NTAC

• Through competitive process, Generations United was awarded the cooperative agreement

• NTAC will provide holistic technical assistance, training, and tools to the array of state and tribal agencies and organizations that serve kinship families

• Not designed to help the families directly – it will improve systems and create tools for the families
American Rescue Plan Act of 2021

Legislative language is clear, and Generations United’s planned work aligns:

• Training, technical assistance, and resources for government programs, nonprofit organizations, and Tribes and Tribal and Indian organizations serving grandfamilies to support each family member’s health and well-being

Activities of the NTAC on Grandfamilies and Kinship Families, as laid out in the Act:

1) engage experts to identify evidence-based, evidence-informed and exemplary practices and programs re: health, education, nutrition, housing, financial needs, legal issues, disabilities, caregiver support
2) encourage the implementation of these practices and programs, and promote coordination of services across systems
3) facilitate learning across systems
4) help systems plan and coordinate responses during emergencies and disasters
5) assist systems in promoting equity and culturally and linguistically appropriate approaches
Conduct Six Virtual Regional Convenings
Identify and Elevate Evidence Based, Evidence Informed and Exemplary Practices or Programs
Facilitate Ongoing Peer Learning
Provide In-Depth Holistic TA and Individual TA
